On Wednesday, October 6, 2010 the Delaware County Chamber of Commerce honored State Senator Ted Erickson with the 2010 Legislator of the Year award based on his steadfast business support.

As the county's business advocate, the Delaware County Chamber of Commerce continuously monitors legislative activity and advocates on behalf of the chamber membership on policies of interest. The Chamber also prides itself in our objective and non partisan advocacy. The "Legislator of the Year" is awarded based on position the Chamber has taken on legislation.

Kathy Scullin, Vice President of Marketing for Crozer Keystone Health System and chairman of the Chamber's Government Affairs Committee, explained that the committee tracks the voting records of every Delaware County legislator in Harrisburg. A subcommittee was formed to review the voting records and Senator Erickson was overwhelming chosen by the Government Affairs committee and approved by the Board of Directors.

"Our honoree this year is a leader who understands the importance of advocating for the business community during these economically challenging times," said Scullin when presenting the award. "This year's honoree is exemplary in his commitment to business and consistently works with us to create a favorable working environment for business in Delaware County."

Erickson, a past "Senator of the Year" award recipient, was lauded for being a staunch supporter of a number of Chamber initiatives. Accepting his award, Erickson led the assembled group of business leaders in applauding the Chamber for being "a valuable asset in Delaware County."

Special thanks to Presenting Sponsor Crozer-Keystone Health System and supporting sponsors Aqua Pennsylvania and PECO Energy.
